

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or a related language. The text is dense and covers most of the page, though it is significantly faded and difficult to read. It appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a transaction. The script is a cursive hand, characteristic of the late Middle Ages.

Additional handwritten text located at the bottom of the page, below the diagrams. This section is also faded but appears to contain a continuation of the document's content, possibly a signature block or a concluding clause. The text is written in the same medieval script as the main body of the document.

