III RARA London Labour Party

WOMEN'S ADVISORY COMMITTEE

THE WORLD WE MUST WORK FOR

The world we knew before 1939 was full of slum houses and stunted lives. Millions unemployed. Millions suffering from malnutrition. Millions deprived of the opportunity to live out their lives in security, freedom and peace.

When this war is over are we going back to that old world—back to the insecurity, the slums, the inequality ?

We, the people of the United Nations, possess mighty resources. We have the factories. We have the machines. We can flood the earth with abundance. We can sweep away the hovels in every land. We can make certain that no man, anywhere, shall ever again know hunger or unemployment. We can fling the gateways of opportunity wide open to every child. We can build a peace which, this time, will endure. . . .

The Women's Advisory Committee of the London Labour Party have arranged six lectures which will afford a glimpse of the New and Better World which we must all work to build.
