Dear Secretary,

“YOUR FUTURE”

Men and women everywhere—in the Services, in Industry, on the Land, and in their Homes—are all anxious about what the future will have in store for them. They are thinking and talking about their own personal needs—steady jobs at good wages, a decent home, ample food, a chance for the children, and other things needful for a healthy, happy life.

They are asking many questions and they want to know the answers. In “YOUR FUTURE” these important matters are discussed and answered from the standpoint of Socialist ideas for a Better Britain after the War. Here is a pamphlet that satisfies an immediate need. It faces frankly and fairly just those problems which are worrying all our minds. It is simple and sincere in its treatment of them and in the guidance and advice which it offers. It explains how the Labour Party would make possible “the sort of life that all men want for themselves, their wives, and their children.”

Despite War-time costs, paper restrictions, and printing difficulties, we have aimed at making the pamphlet attractive in appearance by the use of colour, illustrations, and a clear readable type, and at the same time to keep the price at a reasonable level. The price of 4d. for a single copy compares favourably with current charges for popular pamphlets of a similar production quality.

The success achieved by the earlier Party publication “Your Home” suggests that there will be a large demand for the new one. The size of our first edition has been limited by paper supplies, but we shall arrange to provide for an early reprint out of our next paper allocation. We hope, therefore, that all Party Organisations will order supplies and help to ensure a wide circulation.

Order Form (with rates for quantities) is attached.

Yours sincerely,

J. S. Middleton
