STRENGTHENING

For the purpose of strengthening the body and mind, it is necessary to follow a regular course of exercise and study.

The first step is to establish a routine of daily exercise, such as walking or light gymnastics.

It is also essential to maintain a healthy diet, consisting of fresh fruits, vegetables, and whole grains.

Regular study and intellectual pursuit are equally important for mental strength and clarity.

Consistency and perseverance are key to achieving these goals.

By following these principles, one can attain a state of physical and mental vigor.

It is the duty of every individual to take care of their health and to strive for personal improvement.
