Sports Parade

By Oscar Fraley

Pinehurst, N. C. — (UPI) This was the first time... Teddy Roosevelt was president... Tommy Burns ruled the heavyweights while a 12-year-old named Jack Dempsey walked the streets of Salt Lake City.

Which he did again Monday for the 50th time. Chick, a legend of the golf world, at 72 still hits his drives 225 yards and scores in the 70s.

"Fifty-six is my lucky number," says the bulky man with the ruddy, ever-beaming face and the silver hair.

"It was the number of my first caddy badge. I always ask for locker 56. And my mail box number is 56."

"I had to play in the amateur," he shrugged simply. And it is his tournament. For Chick won it twice, has been in the finals five times and in the semi-finals 10 times.

Former BVM Sisters' Student, Dwyer, Now Star Of Ice Follies

Events of some 15 years ago will be paying dividends for Ice Follies on October 17 when the show plays a special benefit for the Sisters of Blessed Virgin Mary at the Chicago Stadium.

Back in the early 1940's Richard Dwyer was still in grammar school in the Glendale, Calif., area and was taking skating lessons from Michael Kirby, then a movie star working for MGM.

Born in Indianapolis, the always cheerful Chick was moved to Chicago at three. There his family lived near the Edgewater Golf Club and Chick at eight began to caddy for the magnificent sum of 10 cents a round.

Chick entered his first tournament in 1905, at the age of 15, firing in the City Amateur championship with four clubs.

Two years later, in 1907, he entered his first National Amateur. When he scored his big slam in 1916, the promoters put terrific pressure on him to turn professional.

His mother helped him to arrive at his decision. She convinced him he should remain an amateur all his life by pointing out that he was the envy of all Chicago caddies when enrolled in Northwestern University.

WHY?

remember... ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

BEAUTY IS ONLY SKIN, DOPE!

If you're this side of twenty, that side of fourteen, and have an inferiority complexion, you are not alone.

Your body is going through a great number of glandular changes as you mature. Those crazy mixed-up oil glands of yours are sending more oil to the surface of your skin than your skin can handle.

Don't push the panic button. If you have a severe problem, consult a skin specialist. If you don't, keep in mind that your skin will behave itself again when you're in your twenties.

WASH carefully, thoroughly and often, to keep pores from getting clogged. Avoid highly perfumed soaps which may have a drying effect.

SLEEP at least eight hours a night. Good looks begin with good health, and the first half of haggard spells hag.

EXERCISE regularly, vigorously and in the open air. EAT a well-balanced diet with plenty of milk, fruits, green leafy vegetables, and the good things in life.

Combine 1-1/2 pounds ground beef, 1/2 cup (small can) undiluted Carnation evaporated milk, 1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs, 1-1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder, 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper and 2 tablespoons grated onion; mix well. Shape into 6 patties. Broil in pre-heated broiler 5-7 inches from heat for 5 to 7 minutes on each side.

The Carnation Teen Committee, made up of teens in schools across the country, make suggestions for this column. If you have an idea, write to CTC, 124 East 88th Street, New York 16, N.Y. A Teen Party Idea booklet will be sent on request.
