The manuscript consists of five staves of musical notation. The notation is characterized by a grid-based system where vertical columns represent pitch and horizontal rows represent time. The first staff begins with a large, stylized letter 'O' followed by the lyrics 'Quam pulchra est'. The subsequent staves continue the musical line. The notation includes various note heads (dots and dashes) and rests, with some notes having numerical values such as '6', '43', '56', and '76'. The manuscript shows significant signs of age and damage, particularly from water, with large areas of the paper appearing brown and stained.
